New probe into the corruption among the AFP chiefs of staff should include the then Commander in Chief Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo, former President Benigno Aquino III, and the militant groups. The Philippine AFP's people want to know as a surprise because the former was in the United States when the AFP was exposed.

The people were angry about the probe and want the corruption to end. They are not happy about the probe. They are not happy about the probe. They are not happy about the probe.

Witnesses vs Abalos no-shows at graft trial

By Leila E. Salazar-Garcia

GOVERNMENT prosecutors have asked the Sandiganbayan Fourth Division to issue new subpoenas to its witnesses in the international-bribe network (NIN) graft trial of former Commission on Elections chief Benjamin Alcala, after several witnesses failed to show up at the last hearing of the case.

Among the witnesses the prosecution said should be directed to appear on March 23 and 24 are businessman Jose de Fuenes 32, comedian Dante Bladriga, and lawyer Harry Roque, Oliver Lomas, Roberto Rafael Polla and Ernesto Fuen-

Dr. Yaneva, Roper and former party lead Rep. Russ Koscovev were among the soldiers at the last briefing on Jan. 26.

The absence of the witnesses from the hearing did not go unnoticed by the anti-graft court's jurors, who asked the prosecutor where they were.

The prosecution, led by Bruce Bickup, told the court that De Venecia was widely wanted, while Bagac was busy with the trial of the Amigos in the Maguindanao district.

In the meantime, the prosecution said her subpoena was served at the House of Representatives, where she is no longer a member.

Those who did take the witness stand during the Jan. 26 hearing were Northrup and Challenge Commission officials Raulo-puika, Juchala and Director Antonio Barrera from the Mexican Consulate.

Lubchenco testified on the articles of incorporation of The Nonsensical Anthropology Buildings Inc., and stated, upon questioning, that its specialty was not broadband. She testified to the ownership of Sensory Buildings on the 2005 deed.

Make a charge with violation of the assignment and the Revised Penal Code for allegedly taking an interest and intervening in a contract that was not related to his duties as a school chief.

De Teneau, a rising bidder in the MHI bid, has accused Abadie of attempting to influence him so that his firm, American Holdings Inc., would out-purchase its own MHI-owned.

Reyes, Lomax, Puleo and Francisco were among those who filed the criminal complaint against Alcala for his role in the unsolved slay.

Madriga, on the other hand, was a consultant of the Chinese firm PTC Corp. on the NGS deal, and had spoken of the oil deposit as being in the comment.

Abu Sayyaf outlasts 14 generals

By Jule S. Aljolo
Davao City

TEN YEARS and 14 generals ago, the Abu Sayyaf took 21 mostly foreign hostages from a dive resort in Sipadan, Malaysia, and brought them to Sulu.

Today, the brutal group, with factions in the provinces of Basilan and Sulu, is still waging a slow and behind-the-scenes struggle on communities and local officials.

group, was killed that same year.

'The group was able to survive because we were able to neutralize him,' Babasaid.

Majority
The Abu Sayyaf Group has been in the news 21 times in a five-year period. In Sipadan, Malaysia, on April 15, 2000 and brought the victims to Sulu. A month earlier, Abu Sayyaf men based in Basilan took 21 mostly foreign hostages in Sipadan, Malaysia, and brought the victims to Sulu.

The late Philippine Army Col. Sergio Aranda, former commander of the 13th Army Brigade, had dismissed the Abu Sayyaf as a local bandit group engaged in extortion, but after the Sipadan hostage crisis, Aranda admitted that the military was 'dealing with a bigger and powerful group.'

In July 2008, the Arroyo administration declared a state of emergency in Sulu, resulting in the arrest of 120 suspected Abu Sayyaf members.

Arroyo said that there were about a thousand members in Basilan and Sulu, but only 500 were armed fighters.

A few months before he retired in November 2010, Derfelin played the strength of the Abu Sayyaf Group in Basilan to 100 members.

He, Lt. Col. Ramon Joseph Calanghug, spokesman of Western Mindanao Command said the Abu Sayyaf 'is still a security concern in the Western Mindanao Command.'

even if their members are dropping in about 200 to 250 in Basilan.

Just liberating
Basilan State University Professor Ricardo Desamparan, a former fellow victim himself, does not agree that the Abu Sayyaf is already a 'lost cause.'

'They are just liberating,' he said. 'Because and for as long as Radical Islamism, Islam, Christianity, and other religions are still alive and operating, it cannot be said that they are all dead and gone.'

Like Desamparan, Christiana Desamparan, 35, a Christian, president of Peace Advocates Davao, believes that the Abu Sayyaf is still alive and ticking.

'Many people's lives are still in danger because of their terroristic acts in our communities. Kidnapping cases continue after all these years,' he said.

The Desamparan group regularly monitors the Abu Sayyaf in Basilan, the military and police should not be a way for the people in a state of terror, says of security because the ASG is just liberating.

Desamparan said that the group was not setting new members.

'We are monitoring from inside ourselves the ASG is existing now members in Basilan and Sulu, and that these members have been ordered to maintain their activities,' he said.

Think long term.

21 women to train as city bus drivers

By Tina G. Santos

THIRTYONE women applicants at the Metropolitan Manila Development Authority (MMDA) will soon start training to become city bus drivers.

According to MMDA General Manager Carlos Alvarez, out of the 31 who submitted their resumes, 21 passed the initial aptitude driving test given by the agency.

They have already been recommended to the Metropolitan Manila Development Authority (MMDA) where they will undergo the mandatory training, assessment and certification of public utility bus drivers, Alvarez said.

The age of the applicants range from 21 to 32 years old and most of them are graduates and have driving experience.

Among them are a registered nurse and graduates of secondary education and universities.

Alvarez said there were five other new applicants who may also be considered to undergo the bus training.

"The five new entrants will undergo a more rigid training because although they have their professional driver's license, they lack PUV driving experience," she explained.

Those who will pass the bus training will then be referred to bus companies.

Alvarez noted that there are two bus companies which already agreed to hire women drivers.

TV5 warned on traffic jams caused by Willie fans

By John M. Asencio

FOLLOWING complaints of traffic jams on Quirón Highway due to the fans of the "Willie Miller" television show, the Quirón City government has warned TV5 to stop again by making fans leave the show could be arrested.

The warning came as necessary to the Quirón Police Department and the Quirón City Police Department not to allow any person along the highway and its sidewalks as to not to interfere traffic flow in the area.

"Due to the continuous traffic caused by the TV5 showing of 'Willie Miller', already government has intervened the QCPD to allocate the crowd at the sidewalk on Quirón Highway in front of TV5," the police said.

Gregorio Ramirez, chief of the Public Order and Information Section Office, said Police and representatives of the QCPD and TV5 can last week to discuss the matter.

The city government has repeatedly received complaints from motorists that queues of fans waiting to be allowed entry in the popular show has caused heavy traffic on the highway.

The TV5 studios are located in Rep. San Bernardino, Novaliches, "Willie Miller" which is located by Willie fansville also daily from 6:30 to 7 p.m.

TV5 was told to allocate space inside the TV5 compound where waiting motorists can be accommodated instead of the sidewalks where they still wait the circus and contribute to the traffic jam, Ramirez said.

Police had repeatedly been receiving complaints from motorists passing through Quirón Highway on the traffic jams.

The network was given "enough time" to comply with the order but the city police may be forced to take measures such as revoking the show's permit, Ramirez said. The official, however, did not specify how much time was given to TV5.

In a statement, Police said the revocation of the show's business permit, should the TV station refuse to comply in its behavior to follow Quirón City "public safety requirements which is aimed at protecting the safety of the crowd."

It added that he had already coordinated with TV5 management as well as QCPD City Police, also along Quirón Highway, for the smooth traffic flow along the highway.

"What is important is that we prevent accidents in the area," he added.

Ex-Citibankers reminisce good old days part 2

By Doris C. Sumiko

THAT'S a reason why Citibank has gained popularity as the "University of Banking" in the Philippines. An array of banking, finance and corporate services and products had evolved from this global institution as a result of its long presence in the country. It's not just the services, though, but the people who work there, mostly when they were students, before going on to work for Citibank.

Over 450 of these ex-Citibankers, including some 100,000, recently gathered in the grand old room and extended the flames of leadership and friendship during the second ex-Citibankers grand reunion last Jan. 9 to the PNB Financial Center.

But the reunion was not only a chance to catch up and party; it was also seen as an opportunity for ex and current Citibankers to raise funds for better colleges in need of assistance, such as for medical requirements.

During the program for "Balik Citi 2011," Citibank Country Office Senior Vice President and the reunion's chairman of the event was reconfirmed that he had started Citi's reputation as the largest and most trusted foreign bank here in the Philippines.

TEDDORO, PNB, PNB and PNB

"We now have more than 1,000 employees in the country, 99 percent of whom are local. For this reason, if you ask me how many Citibankers we have in the Philippines, that's 1,000 plus all the people in the world," he said.

Aside from the volume of services, Citibank's 190 branches throughout the country are said to be the reason that Citibankers like going to Citibank to see their services as well as those whom they mentored. It's the tradition of mentorship that sets Citibank apart from other foreign banks, he said.

"When you join, somebody reaches out to you and gives you guidance, helps you build your network, is general for advice and that has no conflict of interest because the mentor should be your boss. Usually whenever you go, there are people older than you who make sure they teach you, make sure you don't get into trouble and set you out for success. It's the instinctive teaching. When you are the value in this tradition, you do the same when the time comes for you," he said.

EX-WIFE REMEMBERS HER TORMENT

Verbal abuse is never about love

These authors also report that the following are very common:

RENEW from the first months of our marriage.

While I was pregnant with our first son, I saw my marriage as kind of a vacation, it was me, my son, and—no one else. I was so happy, and I was so sure that I would never have any marital problems. I didn't know you don't get it, but you could never know what you are missing (the beautiful other side of me).

When I gave birth, it was only then that I was admitted to not having any feelings, so I used my feelings to give birth to the beautiful baby. I didn't want to look for a job to help support our son, but you and your wife had to accept a three-month job. I called to talk to you about it, but you said that the woman was

you about how you always blamed other people.

I had no qualms about being the benefactor for most of our married life, but you generated my jewelry. I sought with my hard-earned money without my knowledge, and you sold my mementoes without my consent. You disrupted the altar on the day of our nuptials. At the risk to me that you wanted me to have a husband, I had no choice.

When I get angry with you for spending out has business press on here and elsewhere, you are just angry, stressed at me, and I know you are not telling me it was the last hundred or two.

When I arrived home one day, I saw birds make-in the rubber down and a big hole on the cushion down, as if someone had kicked it into the wood frame. I looked out the window and saw one bird building a nest on top of the nesting, with its glass frame attached.

I believed those and all else that you had said and said, and what you made me believe I was.

At one point, we had a fight about you leaving your job and/or apartment, you blamed everyone but the crump yourself. I was too much for me to take, and I confronted you about how you always blamed other people, and never apologized for any last you caused me. You shoved me to the ground, turned your back, and drove away. You showed no remorse. From that-on, I know it will only get worse. That was the last straw.

I asked, and you said you didn't love me anymore, so I saw no more reason for us to stay together. I was left with absolutely nothing—no status, but I know that going through another day with you would only mean digging my own grave deeper.

But at that moment, I felt as if a heavy load had been lifted from my shoulders. I wrapped together whatever willpower was left for me to stay, because that was all I had left. But I never cried, never gave up.

To make the roller work, you needed to make the kids with you. It was a most painful decision for me, because I didn't want to go through a day of me. Since I know you would not give up anyway, it would only be a matter of time. I was right.

Raising my children with me brought me as much happiness, and that was enough. I put aside whatever you made me go through, and even helped you start a new life, just to make you realize the value of having a sense of worth. I never learned any form of communication you had with your sons, just so that they understood the value of having a father despite our separation.

Throughout the years, I observed the stress you worked me. You criticized my face, my body, and my intelligence. You always had something to say about me, and when I answered, you simply smiled. You indicated that I wasn't a good mother or that I shouldn't try to bring up our children myself.

I have given everything to hell, yes, as you all know and as many great books, never letting me finish any of my sentences. So one can help you but yourself. And if you choose to put me down each time we face each other, that's your problem, not mine. I found solutions to my own issues, and have resolved them. True and you blame me or anyone else is an admission-tempt to cover up your own fault. You are wrong. You are being judged because you know people will see the what they see.

Tricks and money may break my bones, but words hurt, too. The stars from within about me, but fewer than the broken from human hands. To those who have gone through the same thing, you are not alone. Know that you can do something before something happens to you, not only for your children's sake, but your own sake, as well. Don't let the cycle of anger, rage, self-pity, hopelessness, and

What moments will our children have if all they witness in their younger years is schism, hatred and contempt? How will they cope with life's challenges if all they learn to walk away with is hate?

Love yourself first before loving anyone who doesn't love you back. Think to start now. We had dinner at dinner control, it is never done love. And no one has the right to bring you with them down the dreadful road they have paved for themselves, unless you allow them to.

Boutique-style resort sets the standard on the other side of Boracay

By PJ Enriquez
Contributor

BORACAY IS known all over the world as the premier vacation spot in the Philippines. Thousands flock year-round to the 5.5 km long White Beach, where the majority of the resort's restaurants and shops are located. White Beach gets its name from its very fine, sugar-like sand. What many don't know though is that Boracay actually has eight other beaches around it, the biggest of which is called Bulabog, located right behind D'Mall at Station 2.

Bulabog Beach is actually on the side of Boracay where the wind is pretty strong. On that spot, you will find many waterburies and kite-boarders surfing back and forth, enjoying some of the wildest aerial acrobatics I have seen in a while.

On this side of Boracay is much more than just about the waterburies and kite-boarders. There is also a different lifestyle that somewhat contrasts the one you might find on White Beach.

For starters, Bulabog is not as crowded.

With the exception of the activity in the water, the beach is not as busy as one might initially think. There are also a lot of locals walking around, enjoying the sunset as opposed to trying to sell service or music. Bulabog is also a little more laid-back, and less packed than how White Beach can sometimes get.

Quality and atmosphere

They may not have a lot of bars and restaurants on the beach but what they lack in numbers, they make up for in quality and atmosphere. Local businesses like Luvemore and Apple Bar are fast becoming favorite destinations. Even guests on White Beach looking to get away from crowds have been known to show up at the bulabog from time to time.

Located at the far end of the beach, these small, rustic, open-air spots that play a lot of reggae music are a fast back to nature oasis on this island. People, mostly locals, come at around midnight to chill out, enjoy the drinks and relax all the way to the morning.

As for resorts, a lot of them on this side of the island are richer small villa-type or 30- to 40-unit resorts—very similar to what I studied in Germany as part of the Bachelor's program years ago before they expanded. There are very small, quiet resorts on the beach with a very green atmosphere that will manage to give guests the best of what the beach has to offer.

One of the resorts that I recently visited was the Thanae Resort and Hotel, run by Fergis (Harris) and Prospero, the same local management company that runs Pearl Beach and Pines Beach.

Right at Bulabog Beach, the resort houses 40 units that are actually rustic-type lodgings ranging from one-bedroom to three bedrooms. Each unit is carefully designed and furnished, different from one another but maintaining a distinct look in order to reflect the overall contemporary Philippine theme design and feel of Thanae.

Rustic appeal

The houses are a small beachfront, not really comparable to the other side even after they have cleared it. Walking on the beach, you will see a lot of coconut trees, banana trees and herbs, but I like to walk around. It's not as crowded as the other side of the island. The beach is also not really much for swimming; the waves are a lot stronger, not to mention the beachers keep stepping back and forth. But the resort does have a very nice private pool that guests can enjoy.

There is a small restaurant, the Nika Nika Cafe, that serves continental/European cuisine if you are a little lazy to take the 10-minute walk to the D'Mall area. I must say I was impressed with the size of the servings. As a budget traveler, I ordered one of the minor items on the menu. Not only was it good, I could not even finish it. It was in three sizes. Also, desserts should not be missed, especially the chocolate, which is in the line.

While there, I was on the lookout for Fergis (Harris) and Prospero and I did find it, who can sometimes be seen vacationing, and who will always always find his way into the kitchen to help his wife with his specialties. This man was such a character, and I was able to sample some of his delicious pastas, pasta and rice.

Thanae is also a regular sponsor of the local Boracay International Fun Board Cup, which is the island's biggest surfing and kiteboarding event.

Best of all, Thanae's management will not let you down, even if this page will be posted, since they will be one of the main sponsors of the event, which will put the center of the action right at their doorstep.

All Pines Grill and 7-Avenue Barbecue are located at Bulabog Beach, near Bulabog Beach, Malap, Aklan. For more info, email reservations@thanae.com or visit www.thanae.com or call 0927-732-6038 to schedule an appointment today.

THANAE features pool is 25 meters long and has both a swim-upbar and an outdoor jacuzzi. (right) features sofas, some with long side bed and a 12-inch flat screen TV.

THERE IS something about Cuba that encourages its residents to become artisans of craft and design, with the patience for the intricate and the need for self-expression. Perhaps this is rooted in the deep passion of the Cubans. What better way to celebrate the city's coexisting than through an exhibit that coincides with the grand Sincrolog festival?

"Coke Cuts: A Celebration of Coke's Power!" was recently launched at a luncheon show at S&P Coke's north wing. Now on its second year, the exhibit features more than 1,000, said Marlene Farnum, executive vice president of S&P Holdings for Europe and Montreal. It is ongoing until Friday, Jan. 20.

"The effort 'CelloCello' was aimed to be a single-month drive for the release of the 'Cello Cello' coffee-table book, but it was so successful that we made it an annual effort," Farmer said.

Singer Phil Collins and Dulio opened the show with CelloCello folk songs. This was followed by a fashion show featuring works by designer Gary Santiago. He presented his "Cello Subculture" collection consisting of sweaters

Little-known natural wonders in Cebu

By Arnette S. Tayao

ALONG a road lined in Barangay Talambutan, Cebu, is a house that does Mother Nature proud. Known to people as the house of the sun, it is a small, one-story house with a circular skylight and a large window that serves as a terrace. The house is made of natural materials, mostly wood, and is built on a hillside. It is the residence of Cebu City Councilor Nestor Archido Sr., who, as one of the city's environmental champions, took it upon himself to build a house that is both beautiful and eco-friendly.

The house is built on a 7,000 sq m compound, which also has a swimming pool, a garden, a playground, a vegetable garden, a compost pit and a natural hot spring.

"I first visited the house in 2007, and I chose the committee on agriculture," he says. "After two years, a fellow councilor died, who was the chairman of the committee, and I took over his position. That year, I started my work on environmental issues."

Archido works with the three elements: water, soil and air. The house is built on a hillside, and the water is collected from a natural spring. A few people think that mall-based fashion brand Penneboppe started in Tulsa. Founder Denise L. Sinulog—the hottest party down south

The relentless 3-day revelry began in the clubs with the country's hottest DJs, before moving to the streets

WHILE Rio de Janeiro has the Carnival, New Orleans has Mardi Gras, and Atlanta has In-Arrestation, Cebu has its Sinulog. In Cebu, there has been no bigger reason to party than the town's grandest festival. This year has been the biggest Sinulog that Cebu has seen by far, with a record-breaking number of visitors from all corners of the country and the globe joining the party.

While the Sinulog Festival, itself held annually on the third Sunday of January, is only a one-day affair, the three-day celebration spanning began the Friday before Sinulog Day.

Lunch and dinner alike after their party opened with The Pinoyhouse's 1st 1st Pinoy House on Friday, Jan. 14. The crowd took flight in the clubs below as The Pinoyhouse Fire to music of the time. The Pinoyhouse Fire to music of the time. The Pinoyhouse Fire to music of the time.

Meralco powers an island to brighten more lives.

Moreover the word Mercedes and a few images immediately come to mind.

An electric motor.
A row of electric poles.
A light bulb.
A candle.
In a single word: ELECTRICITY.

This is repeated. After all, as the country's undisputed power provider for over a hundred years, Mercedes disposes the village with electric lines, promoting the electrification of cities and rural areas alike.

Indeed, with Mercedes, life has lights.

But is this all there is to it? Is electricity just about powering appliances and gadgets, electrifying remote areas and lighting up streets?

Definitely not.

At Mercedes, it's more than just providing power. It's providing people with a better way of life. And perhaps no one can attest to this more than the people of Talim, a dagger-shaped island at the heart of Laguna de Bay.

ISLAND IN THE DARK

Talim Island is a far-flung strip of land seemingly cut off from the rest of the country by mountains and a lake. Electricity in this remote community was nearly non-existent and only very few had access to generators that provided limited power supply. Island recreation was a wooden game, good friends and laughter. Cooking was just an effortful struggle - building fires required a watchful eye and the cooperation of the reprehensible weather. The rest of the island's daily activities - like fishing, farming, sewing and reading to himself - was not quite easy as well. Everything had to be done quickly before sunset - a time that came far too soon not just for the handworking folk but for the children too, who wished they could play or study their lessons just a little bit more.

"Life then was simple. And as some islands, it was really hard, very difficult. Until Meralco came along."

Sparkling an entrepreneurial spirit

Developing the fishing industry

Life then was simple. And as some islands, it was really hard, very difficult. Until Mercedes came along.

THE ISLAND COMES TO LIFE

The moment electricity quaked into Talim, change spread throughout the island like wildfire. Livelihoods blossomed into full-fledged businesses. Villagers were now able to store their catch in freezers and farmers could now keep their produce fresher for longer. Cooking became easier and before were not put to waste. Students could also study longer and help in the chores long after night.

An entrepreneurial spirit caught on among the islanders, too. With a consistent power supply, many put up their own ice-cream and served ice-cold drinks, helping augment the household income to put their children through school. That's why today, Talim brims not just with music (provided from one of the neighbor's newly installed karaoke machines) but more importantly, with productivity and a renewed sense of vitality.

The people are happier, of course. The once sleepy island finally came to life not just with light but with joy. As one of the residents excitedly shared, "Nag-aayos-kayang sa kani, ang angang ng buhay... Talim, isang isla na ay nagkaroon ng buhay." ("When we finally got electricity, the first thing I noticed was the light. It felt as if I were opening a gift. I was that happy.")

Talim is just one of the many communities that Mercedes has tirelessly electrified through its dedicated service. Today, it is more passionate than ever to help even more communities

"Meralco takes the next step from simply providing power to becoming a guiding light to its customers, the community and the country."

Sparkling hope at Talim Island

Leading towards empowerment

Building up businesses

not just by providing electricity but by staying committed to its mission: Empowering progress. Empowering people. And at a time when we are faced with new challenges ahead, sparking hope.

United by a shared vision and guided by a common set of values and strategies, Meralco takes the next step from simply providing power to becoming a guiding light to its customers, the community and the country. As it continues to power and improve, we can only look forward to a bigger and better tomorrow.

With Mercedes, the future is brighter indeed.

Years of Magic

Three decades of good times and great taste

This month, McDonald's, through its local partner Golden Arches Development Corporation, starts a series of happenings to celebrate the 30th year of the world-famous brand's presence in the Philippines. Isn't it nice to remember those good old days when good grades or behavior were worth a Sunday trip to the nearest McDonald's outlet with dad and mom? Or a Valentine's Day well spent with just a cheeseburger, fries, and drink? Indeed, relationships bloom in that house of red and yellow. Filipinos love to call "McD's." We kick off the big down memory lane with McD's, which incidentally uses this paper as its official breakfast partner, with the many frodo McD's chalked up in Pinoy country. You don't need to convince us you find your first business class seated over a McDonald's at McDonald's. We believe you.

By Mark D. Solano

Any children about McDonald's and chances are, what they can remember are the fast food, good food, and everything else that makes the world's leading fast food chain experience. Happiness, love is served in the Philippines 30 years ago, McDonald's has become a part of every Filipino's life and to them were, during their lifetime by bringing profits good times.

Looking at the McDonald's, McDonald's expected and anticipated well, and even changing needs and interests of Filipinos by introducing new items on their list the entire 30 years of its existence. It's not just about food but also about service, customer satisfaction and their love, more are more, makes McDonald's a global leader.

First Restaurant - Morayta, Manila

The first McDonald's restaurant opened along the busy streets of Morayta, Manila in 1981, where founder George T. Yang decided to bring the brand to the Philippines. Located right at the heart of the University Belt, students, employees and parents by Santa Lucia and España had the first taste of McDonald's iconic products: the Big Mac, Cheeseburger, World Famous French Fries, Egg Muffin, Apple Pie, and Soda.

The McDonald's experience

First Drive-Thru - Greenhills, San Juan

Time is so convenient to fast food and quick service, McDonald's revolutionized the fast-food dining experience in the country in 1982, when it introduced its first drive-thru outlet in Greenhills, San Juan. This allowed customers to enjoy their favorite McDonald's meals even when they are busy and on-the-go.

First 24/7 Delivery

To provide a convenient solution to every Filipino's busy lifestyle, McDonald's launched the first 24-hour delivery service in Metro Manila in 2005. This allowed everyone to enjoy their McDonald's favorite not only in the store, but also in the comfort of their homes or workplaces.

In 2010, McDelivery launched its first home delivery service, where in any order, big or small, can be delivered for only P40.

24-hour Fastfood Restaurant

In 2004, when the world no longer sleeps because time and business started going round the clock, McDonald's opened its first 24-hour store along Alibon Avenue, and continued to expand nationwide over the next couple of years. With its mission to provide quality and value for every single customer, McDonald's 24-hour stores witnessed the growing need of its customers after work or on any occasion during the week known as the morning.

First Web Delivery Service

Now that almost everyone is connected to the internet, McDonald's made its delivery service even more convenient and hassle-free by introducing its online delivery service, www.mcdelivery.ph in 2008. Here, with a few simple clicks, customers can have their favorite McDonald's meals delivered at their doorstep, anytime, anywhere.

First Cashless Mobile Ordering System

The 2011, McDonald's once again added delivery service another step further as it launched another first: the first cashless mobile ordering system, introducing a third way for customers to access McDelivery. McDonald's partner with NPI and launched the NPI i-Cash Mobile Staff's McDelivery service. Now, NPI customers can order and pay for their favorite McDonald's meals through their mobile phones. The cashless mobile ordering system also allows customers to order from the food delivered to another, making it easier for the on-the-go Filipino or share his McDonald's favorites in his family, loved ones and friends.

McCafe

From their World Famous favorite to coffee, McDonald's launched the first McCafe in Cebu in 2005. It was the Filipino love for coffee that inspired the launching of McCafe, providing customers with a wide range of specialty and affordable beverages that include espresso-based coffee drinks such as cappuccinos, lattes and cold lattes and mochas, and other drinks like hot chocolate. Watching their drinks with favorite McDonald's meal made the perfect day perfect.

Dessert Center

And who doesn't have a sweet tooth? A little Friday, Saturday or a Sunday treat is enough to cool down the heat. McDonald's opened its Dessert Center to provide dessert-loving customers their sweet fix while making it convenient and accessible for them. It used to wait in line for a long time just to have that sweet reward and favorite McFlair.

The McDonald's experience

Breakfast

The famous McDonald's breakfast menu was first introduced in the Philippines back in 1983. Since then, people on the go no longer had to decide the most important meal of the day with a wide range of breakfast meals: the 2-ups Breakfast, My Breakfast and breakfast items like the Sausage, McFluffins and Hamstead. One can eat just 300ms but affordable as well.

Value Head

Perhaps one of the best food innovations pioneered by McDonald's was the concept of the value meal—a group of items that are packaged at an affordable price. It being affordable doesn't mean the items are slant changed in size and taste. The value meals are made just for people on the go and for those who always want "value for their money."

Happy Meal

The first McDonald's Fingers Meal reached Philippine shores in 1997 much to the delight of children (and their parents). But more than just providing kids their favorite McDonald's meal with a cooling treat, the Fingers Meal also teaches the value of sharing. Whenever you buy a McDonald's Fingers Meal, 30 centavos automatically goes to O' Ronald McDonald House Charities (ORMC).

Hamburg University

Always going for excellence, McDonald's being a constant in the globalized hamburger universe is 1961 to be consumed in St. Louis, Illinois. It was Fred Young, McDonald's former senior chef, who cooked up the idea. Now defined as the company's global center of excellence, employees who train at Hamburger University benefit the restaurant's commitment to quality, cleanliness, service, in general, more than 90,000 managers, and operators have attended and completed the program. From Hamburger University's Oak Brook, McDonald's Hamburger University trains around 1,000 workers from restaurants around the world.

More than just good food and innovative service, McDonald's believes in giving back to the community. Piolo Pascual revealed—finally!

By Raymond Ivas
Contributor

I JUST got a text from him the day of his birthday—imagine being in Piolo Pascual's shoes! Some people would die for the privilege! Anyway, he said I made his day! It was special. This was because his book, "Piolo Revealed," was finally published and launched last December at Pully Booked.

Making a coffee-table book was one of the scariest things I had to do last year. It was a test of receiving patience and broad ship. As clichéd as it may sound, nothing worthwhile comes easy. This morning, the photographer, who wanted to see the backdrops of producing a book, I understood it, but the experience didn't come close to his morning. It was harder!

Needless to say, the birth pains were all worth it, just seeing the book materialize and the number of people who came, not to mention the number of people who purchased the book on the day itself. As I wrote this, Pully Booked just called for an order of 50 more copies to meet demand.

What made me even more proud was the presence of people who seldom showed themselves at events, but showed up today to support the book. Truly happy, some came from the big house of MGLC, some in disguise, but then again, how can you not know the guy? Mr. Chino Santos was there, elegant and beautiful as ever. And would you believe that the glamorous diva from last year's season 1 of "The Hot Chick" was there, with KJ Somers in tow? Of course, everyone will always have the talented Piolo Pascual around for his making-and-a-point-to-remember his book.

And I have to give credit to Johnny Manahan and Marissa Albert for their ability to spread the goodness. You will only see them in the background of more IR photons, but they were given the priority: rather a chance to catch them alone.

With the years of working in show biz, the line between friends and coworkers seems to blur. That is why David Joyce burst, as she is fondly called, was caught looking like she was watching Flash: she is one of the subtlest players on the wall. And yet, her team's momentum at all. With her seat is R. Reynolds, who handles the affairs and schedules of Sam Riley. The two are inseparable.

I am glad Vicki Peiss and Casselle Holmes were both present at the launch. The Role-group needs to be complete without Leah Sellers, who is as much a moving force in the company as Vicki and Casselle. I just missed Ben Chan when Ben, too, but he was in New York that time. In his place, though, were the Beach wares, Lawrence Cox, Paula Horan, Eric King, Marion Plonk, and the ever efficient Nancy. And still, I think best could we hope Lillian was also there, but, except incompete. Without Beach and Peiss, I don't think the book would have been under the light of day.

The other supporters of the book were Baudouin, Baron de Ceva and Charles de Gaulle, whose supporters gave some in full force to support not only their candidate, but a

I was so glad that life like New handled the event for us that day. Fido and I came from separate locations, and she made sure I had nothing to worry about. I even had to change in the parking lot before she showed up!

Festive Chinese New Year

THE MARCH Polo Plaza Drive (MPPD), the city of New Orleans' historic City, is the location and the March to welcome the Year of the Metal 2011.

On the way, it's a shot to good luck and great vibes as MPPC takes off the celebration with traditional prosperity dances—Liang Shat or Lion Dance and Lampung or Dragon Dance—all the hotel beds, along with the customary Clipping of the Eye ceremony and fireworks to ward off negative energies.

Whether the annual Yee Sang Tsang ceremony is held by China Governor Xie Xue, People's Republic of China consular general in Hong Kong, or other special guests, this colorful tradition involves 12 people (symbolizing the 12 signs of the zodiac) who will gather around the Yee Sang (fish salad), each holding up a chocolate to kiss the salad. In the morning, welcome to the New Year as you dine at the annual of the spectacular 1,000-B-Age B.L.V.

Tune in to the special occasion as you celebrate with sparkling wine, cocktails, or a special dinner. Dinner early and enjoy low cocktails for the price of one from 4:30 to 7 p.m. Dinner starts at $59 p.p. Enjoy a Chinese feast for us to offer as the second winning buffet restaurant. Gold Marco serves a variety of authentic Hong Kong-style cuisine, featuring delicious Chinese-brewed beer like dumplings, fried rice, mandarin and more, until Feb. 8. For inquiries and reservations, call 202.711.1111 (toll-free) or e-mail info@marco.com.

In celebration of its Centennial year, the University of the Philippines School of Creative and Comparative Literature, with World Theater Project, stages its Centennial offering, the dramatizing of Dr. Josely Gade's book A William Shakespeare original: "Shore's Macbeth".

Under the concept and direction of Dr. Andres Juan Jr., who has graduated from University of Notre-Dame de LaC, the play imagines the politico-military film, the real world being the Macbeths' movie on a real place, and the film world being the Macbeths' cinematic-construction. The cinematic address is treated like a director who lets of people from everyday life, understanding the phenomena against which existing social conventions and political ideology hinder.

The play features Tony Curran, Judy Jek, Billy Abel, Christopher, Frances Gooding, Brenda Garmon, Earl Ignazio, Rose Curran, Jane Webb, etc.

Silent boycott...

Review by J. J. ...
 "Silent Boycott" is an early silent film from 1911, but it's not silent at all. The film is a comedy, and it's a good one. It's a story about a woman who is being courted by two men. One man is a doctor, and the other is a lawyer. The woman is in love with the doctor, but the lawyer is trying to win her over. The film is a classic of the silent era, and it's a good one to watch.
